OVERVIEW

This Planning and Development Department Reference Guide provides a summary of the requirements for development plat applications (sometimes called “site plan review”) requesting a variance or special exception. A variance is defined as a commission-approved deviation from the requirements of Chapter 42, whereas a special exception is a commission-approved adjustment to a requirement of Chapter 42, Article III.

The variance and/or special exception application process begins at the Planning & Development Department’s offices within the Code Enforcement Building located at 1002 Washington. Once submitted and verified to be complete, review of the application and presentation before the Planning Commission will be handled by a staff member located at our 611 Walker Street office downtown. The Houston Planning Commission meets every other week at the City Hall Annex located at 900 Bagby Street unless otherwise posted. (See “Appendix H” for parking information)

For complete information on requirements, please refer to Chapter 42 of the City of Houston Code of Ordinances.

PRE-SUBMITTAL MEETING

Applicants are encouraged to meet with the Planning and Development Department staff prior to submitting an application with a variance or special exception request. During the pre-submittal meeting staff will identify potential concerns about the proposed project and answer specific questions regarding the process or Chapter 42 requirements. Since staff will be unable to complete a thorough review of the proposed project prior to receiving a formal application, we cannot provide a recommendation at the Pre-Submittal Meeting. To request a “Development Plat Variance Pre-Submittal Meeting”, please call (832) 393-6600 or email planning.variances@houstontx.gov.
